Disclosure of your Social Security Number is required. Refer to pg 2, General Instructions, of the State of Texas Application for Texas Identification Number, <http://comptroller.texas.gov/taxinfo/taxforms/ap-152.pdf>.*

Purpose of Form. - An organization that is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN) to report income paid to you. The TIN is either the payee's Social Security Number (SSN) or Employer Identification Number (EIN) or, for foreign individuals residing but not working inside the United States, an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number. Nonresident alien information must be obtained to determine the payee's tax status for compliance with IRS withholding and reporting requirements. The additional information for other payee types is needed to satisfy State of Texas requirements for establishing vendor records.

Taxpayer Name and Number Specific Instructions:

To prevent payments from being subject to backup withholding, you must provide a correct TIN. A TIN is considered incorrect if the name and TIN combination does not match or cannot be found on IRS or Social Security Administration (SSA) records.

Name. - As an individual, you must generally provide the name shown on your social security card. However, if you have changed your last name, for instance, due to marriage, without informing the Social Security Administration of the name change, please enter your first name, the last name shown on your social security card, and your new last name.

If you are a sole proprietor, you must furnish your individual name and your SSN. You may also enter your business name or "doing business as" name on the business name line. The SSN will be used for your vendor record with UT. If you prefer the use of your EIN for any required tax reporting, enter that number also. Enter your name(s) as shown on your social security card and/or as it was used to apply for your EIN on Form SS-4.

Nonresident Alien Individual

For income tax purposes, "nonresident alien individual" means an individual who is neither a U.S. citizen nor resident. Generally, an alien is considered to be a US resident if:
The individual was a lawful permanent resident of the United States at any time during the calendar year, that is, the alien held an immigrant visa (a "green card"), or
The individual was physically present in the United States on:
(1) least 31 days during the calendar year, and
(2) 183 days or more during the current year and the 2 preceding calendar years (counting all the days of physical presence in the current year, one-third the number of days of presence in the first preceding year, and only one-sixth of the number of days in the second preceding year).

See IRS Pub. 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, for more information on resident and nonresident alien status.

Visa Status. - Immigration regulations regarding work eligibility of non-immigrants are complex. Contact The University Tax Office via email oa.ic@austin.utexas.edu for preliminary information regarding visa types that permit payment for services.

Withholding. - Foreign persons are not generally required to have a U.S. TIN, nor are they subject to any backup withholding because they do not furnish a TIN to a payer. However, non-employee payments to nonresident aliens are subject to 30% tax withholding unless a tax treaty with their country entitles them to either a lower rate or exemption. To claim any available treaty benefits, exemptions or current year tax residency status, the recipient must have a U. S. tax number (SSN or ITIN) and contact oa.ic@austin.utexas.edu for a tax determination..

Backup Withholding What is Backup

Withholding? - Persons making certain payments to you after January 1, 2006 are required to withhold and pay to the IRS 28% of such payments under certain conditions. This is called "backup withholding." Payments that could be subject to backup withholding include rents, royalties, non-employee compensation, and payments for legal or medical and health care services. Reportable payments you receive will be subject to backup withholding if:
You do not furnish your TIN to the requestor, or
The IRS notifies the requestor that you furnished an incorrect TIN.

Limited Liability Company (LLC) Entity

Types - Generally, a multiple owner Limited Liability Company is treated as a Partnership for tax purposes. A Sole Owner LLC is considered a Disregarded Entity and is reported under the sole owner's entity type. An LLC may elect to file as a Corporation by filing IRS form 8832 directly with the Internal Revenue Service. For more information see <https://www.irs.gov/Businesses/Small-Businesses-&Self-Employed/Limited-Liability-Company-LLC>

The following is a list of payees exempt from backup withholding and for which no information reporting is required. Payments subject to reporting under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) sections 6041 and 6041A are generally exempt from backup withholding only if made to payees described in items (1) through (7), except a corporation that provides medical and health care services or bills and collects payments for such services is not exempt from backup withholding or information reporting.
